The Postal Service has been looking at ways to increase revenue since the selection of the 75th Postmaster General Louis DeJoy who started his tenure on June 15, 2020, and resigned on March 24, 2025, everyone can recall the Delivering for America plan it was a ten year plan to reduce costs by consolidating and opening mega centers one size fits all, by reducing delivery standards, the new Postmaster General David Steiner is now undertaking a similar task on ways to reduce costs increase revenue while maintaining the critical infrastructure which is vital to every American and businesses within the United States.

Everyone is concerned by the actions of the Board of governors so am I by not meeting this obligation (It's estimated that suspending payments to FERS will result in savings of approximately $2.5 billion this fiscal year.) (SIC) this will take effect on April 10, 2026, there will be a live stream April 14, 2026, at 7:00 PM Eastern Standard time go to APWU.ORG website to find out more information.

It is my opinion that the Postal Service can save more by eliminating subcontracting and being more transparent before it renews such contracts, there have been reports from the Office of Inspector General's Office that concurs this opinion.

And we must not forget about the prefunding mandate that also led to a cash deficit prefunding the retiree health benefits for generations to come.
